Chapter 449: The Gift of Wings

A Divine Blessing

As Sung Jin-Woo observed the realms under his dominion, he saw the unwavering loyalty and dedication of countless followers across the multiverse—beings who bore the mark of his shadow, the black heart that granted them strength and connection to his divine essence.

Moved by their devotion and recognizing the challenges they faced in traversing the vast expanses of creation, Sung Jin-Woo made a monumental decision: to bestow upon them a gift that would transform their journeys across realms.

The Proclamation

Standing atop the Throne of Dominion, his voice resonated through the cosmos:

"To all who bear the black heart, I grant you wings—symbols of freedom, power, and purpose. With these wings, you shall traverse the stars, soar through realms, and journey across the infinite expanse of creation faster than light itself."

The Manifestation of Wings

In a brilliant display of divine power, ethereal black wings emerged from the backs of all shadow-bonded beings across the multiverse.

The wings shimmered with shadowy brilliance, radiating both beauty and power.

They were strong yet weightless, capable of folding seamlessly against their bodies when not in use.

A mere thought would unfurl the wings, allowing the bearer to rise into the skies or breach the fabric of space itself.

The Power of Flight

The wings granted unparalleled abilities:

1. Flight within Planets: Followers could now soar through the skies, crossing continents and oceans effortlessly.

2. Cosmic Travel: The wings enabled journeys through the vacuum of space, bypassing the limitations of mortal physics.

3. Speed Beyond Light: The wings allowed travel at speeds faster than light, making interstellar voyages instantaneous for those who wielded them.

4. Dimensional Travel: For advanced followers, the wings could pierce the barriers between dimensions, allowing seamless movement across realms.

A New Era of Exploration

With their newfound wings, followers of Sung Jin-Woo became pioneers of the multiverse.

They explored uncharted worlds, spreading the influence of the Godverse.

Trade, diplomacy, and communication flourished as once-distant realms became interconnected.

Sung Jin-Woo's Final Command

As the followers embraced their divine gift, Sung Jin-Woo spoke one final decree:

"Use this gift wisely. These wings are not just for travel but a symbol of your duty to protect, serve, and uphold the balance of creation."

The followers knelt in reverence, their loyalty to the Absolute One stronger than ever.

Thus began a new chapter in the multiverse—a time of boundless exploration, unity, and purpose under the watchful gaze of Sung Jin-Woo.